++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cloudy with rain arriving through the morning.

Today:
A cloudy start for most, and rain will spread northeastwards during the morning, giving all parts a spell of wet weather. The rain should turn showery later, but there could still be heavy downpours, especially in the south. Maximum temperature 10 deg C (50 deg F).

Tonight:
Remaining cloudy and damp through this evening and much of the night with some patchy rain. Some longer drier interludes may develop in the far south late in the night. Minimum temperature 6 deg C (43 deg F).

Tuesday:
The north remains cloudy with further rain at times on Tuesday. It will be brighter in the south with occasional showers, with strong winds taking the edge off the temperature. Maximum temperature 11 deg C (52 deg F).

Outlook for Wednesday to Friday:
Changeable and windy on Wednesday and Thursday, with spells of rain interspersed by some drier, brighter interludes. Drier and brighter on Friday with easing winds. Mild or very mild.
